

The Republicans are trying to steal 22 electoral votes from the statewide winner of the 2008 Presidential General Election by changing the rules. Many of us believe that we need Electoral College reform, but a piecemeal, state-by-state approach that changes only the way California votes is the wrong way.

Any efforts to reform our election system should be about fairness, not creating partisan advantage.

More than a dozen newspapers -- including the conservative Orange County Register -- have come out against this Republican "Steal the State" Plot.

I pledge to stop the Republicans from stealing the White House and stealing California's electoral votes.
